Dear Mr. Ashcroft,

I think that this whole case stinks. I can't believe that Microsoft was even charged with this in the first place. Microsoft is being attacked for being successful and should instead be praised for helping out the economy like they do. Microsoft is now going to have to share its source code for Windows, which will essentially give freely to competitors what Microsoft worked hard to develop. Microsoft doesn't need to be punished any more than that.

Also, I hope that you do whatever it takes to get the other states that refuse to join onto the settlement to sign on and do what's in the public's best interest.

I appreciate you taking the time to listen to my comments on this issue. I know that many people feel the same way and I hope you take our opinions into account.

Sincerely,

Carole M. Bullick
